

Inaugural Class of IAHSI – 2017

James Cimino

Dr. Cimino is Professor of Medicine and Director of the Informatics Institute at the University of Alabama at Birmingham. He is best known for work on controlled medical terminologies, Web-based clinical information systems, and infobuttons. He has been Professor of Medicine and Biomedical Informatics at Columbia University and Chief of the Laboratory for Informatics Development at the US National Institutes of Health. He is past President of the American Medical Informatics Association.