

Inaugural Class of IAHSI – 2017

Robert Greenes

Dr. Robert Greenes is Professor Emeritus and former Ira A. Fulton Chair of Biomedical Informatics at Arizona State University and Professor of Biomedical Informatics at Mayo Clinic. Prior, he was Professor of Radiology and Health Policy and Management at Harvard Medical School, and Distinguished Chair of Biomedical Informatics, Director of the Decision Systems Group, and a Radiologist at Brigham and Women's Hospital. He was also director of the Harvard/Massachusetts Institute of Technology Biomedical Informatics Research Training Program for more than 20 years. He was co-developer of the MUMPS language and system, during his

MD and PhD student days at Harvard. Dr. Greenes' experience centers on clinical decision support and knowledge representation models and standards. His book Clinical Decision Support and Beyond, Elsevier, 2023, is in its third edition. He is a member of the National Academy of Medicine, Distinguished Fellow and Morris F. Collen Award Recipient in the American College of Medical Informatics, and Fellow of the American College of Radiology and Society of Imaging Informatics in Medicine. His bibliography can be found here.