

Inaugural Class of IAHSI – 2017

Nancy M. Lorenzi

Nancy M. Lorenzi, Professor of Biomedical Informatics, and Clinical Professor of Nursing at Vanderbilt University was President of IMIA (2004-2007) and Chair of the American Medical Informatics Association Board of Directors (2010-2011). In IMIA and AMIA she organized working groups that focused on people side of informatics. She received the Marcia C. Noyes Award (Medical Library Association) and the Morris F. Collen Award of Excellence (American College of Medical Informatics). Dr. Lorenzi is recognized as an expert in managing technological change especially the technical factors that involve people, process and adoption.