

Class of IAHSI - 2023

Zhiyong Lu

Dr. Zhiyong Lu is a Senior Investigator at the National Library of Medicine (NLM) Intramural Research Program, leading research in biomedical NLP, information retrieval, and AI/machine learning. In his role as Deputy Director for Literature Search at National Center of Biotechnology Information (NCBI), Dr. Lu oversees the overall R&D efforts to improve literature search and information access in resources like PubMed and LitCovid, which are accessed by millions of individuals on a daily basis. With over 300 peer-reviewed publications, Dr. Lu is a highly cited author and a Fellow of the American College of Medical Informatics (ACMI). Over the last two decades, Dr. Lu has mentored over 60 trainees, many of whom have gone on to become independent faculty members/researchers at academic institutions in the US, Europe, and Asia.