

Inaugural Class of IAHSI – 2024

Josephine Nabukenya

Josephine Nabukenya is a Professor of Information Systems and Health Informatics at the School of Computing and Informatics Technology, Makerere University. She's the Founder and Chair of the Health Informatics Research Group comprising multi-disciplinary teams in Health Sciences, BioStatistics, Epidemiology & Computing. She's core to the development of Uganda's Digital Health Policy & Strategy and supporting its implementation. She's a lead researcher in health informatics, digital health, information systems, and data science to solve fundamental health challenges in Uganda, and the region.