

Class of IAHSI – 2019

Paula M Procter

Paula is a leader in the use of technology to support health care. In 1979 she implemented the Exeter Nursing System in England, since that time she has led informatics developments in practice, education and management. Paula currently runs an open access online three-year module for all undergraduate nurses, midwives and allied health professionals covering eHealth in all some 2,5000 students have 24/7 access to this module. Paula is a Chartered Fellow of the British Computer Society, honorary fellow of the International Medical Informatics Association - Nursing Informatics group (IMIA NI) she is the Co-Chair of the IMIA NI Education Working Group.