

Inaugural Class of IAHSI – 2024

Jaideep Vaidya

Jaideep Vaidya is a Distinguished Professor of Computer Information Systems at Rutgers University and the Director of the Rutgers Institute for Data Science, Learning, and Applications. He received the B.E. degree in Computer Engineering from the University of Mumbai, the M.S. and Ph.D. degree in Computer Science from Purdue University. His work primarily focuses on information security, privacy, data analytics, and data management, and has been recognized with several best paper awards from the premier conferences in data mining, databases, digital government, security, and informatics. He is a Fellow the AAAS, IAHSI, IEEE, and IFIP, as well as an ACM Distinguished Scientist.